How to quickly customize PowerPoint Marketing PPT Slide Samples PowerPoint marketing plan is a must to share your vision. Thanks to pre-built professional templates, you don't need any design skills to create an amazing presentation. Let's look at three examples of a marketing presentation and learn how to set up each slide in seconds. Marketing plans should be visual. Anyone who has suffered from lengthy presentations understands the importance of diverse slide content. Elements such as images, diagrams, and infographics help break down the monotony of the slide deck. They are also the key to explaining complex concepts and presenting data in style. In this section we will use The Marketing Plan Volume 2, a multi-purpose marketing presentation template from Envato Elements.1. Intro SlideLet's start with setting up a simple slide of image and text. This one is closer to the beginning of the presentation, so it's good to introduce your team and roll out your marketing plan slogan. Use the intro slide to customize your presentation to succeed. Presenting your slogan and guidelines early on lays the groundwork for a balance of presentation. This puts your message in context, your audience knows your motives, they are more likely to engage, understand and follow together. The text is easily replaced. Just click to pick it up and then bring it in your own words. Freely adjust the font size and stack on the PowerPoint tape. Then add own photo. The holders in this marketing presentation template make it a breeze. Just click into the grey box, go to the image and click to paste it. PowerPoint will drop it on the slide, already perfectly scaled and ready for promotion. Simply add text and photo filter to create a strong introduction. SlideCharts diagrams and graphs are really the best way to illustrate numerical data. And thanks to PowerPoint, they can be created and edited in seconds. This slide includes a pre-built column chart with data already included. Naturally, you need to customize it with your own numbers. To do this, click the right button on one of the bars, and then select Editing Data. PowerPoint will launch a built-in Excel spreadsheet right inside the app. There, it's easy to get your own data. The chart will scale and change automatically with each change you make. Set up diagrams and graphs by clicking the right button on the object and selecting Edit Data.3. MockupsFinally, let's check the device layouts. Device layouts will help you showcase your website or app on real-world device views. You'll find layouts for smartphones, phones, computers, tablets and more. Start with the device layout template to drop the specifics of the app into it. As you can see, this layout slide focuses on the smartphone. The centerpiece is the layout itself, the 3D view of the device. In addition, you can see many text sites where you can provide detailed information about the app or website. Whether your PPT marketing has digital advertising or exists to sell a digital product, layouts can be an important element when communicating with your plan. To set up the layout slide, you first need to capture a screenshot on a real device. Transfer it to your computer and then add it to the layout. Click on the image filter inside the phone screen, view the screenshot and click to insert it. PowerPoint will import the image, scaling it automatically to fit inside the layout. From there, it's easy to swap places for your own text to create a compelling marketing SLVP PPT. You get a realistic-looking image of a device with a screen on it. Your slide deck will be at the forefront of professional design and you don't need any editing skills to get there! Using one of these marketing presentation templates, you'll have more time to work on the plan without worrying about editing. But that doesn't mean you can't find common items that work well for every PPT marketing plan. Borrowing from the best ideas is a great reason to use PPT for campaign marketing campaign templates already have ideas for you. Let's take a look at the five types of slides you'll find in many PowerPoint marketing templates. We will be an example of templates from Elements and GraphicRiver. Consider using them when you build your marketing plan. The mission of Slides4Mission is that the basic idea that drives what you do. This is a big litmus test when you have a new idea to measure your tactics against this mission. What do you do fits into your mission? This is a question that all businesses should constantly ask themselves. So, why not use the slide mission in the next PowerPoint marketing? Use the slide to capture the idea. This creates an understanding of your purpose with your audience and employees. Use a critical mission slide like this in business plan to capture this one, a central idea that drives everything you do. Strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats SWOT Slide: they exist for every business. Considering them properly is crucial. This is why they condense into a key idea and a common approach called SWOT. You'll find a SWOT analysis slide in many PPTs for marketing patterns. Use SWOT and fill it out to show proper consideration of every force in your business. A SWOT analysis slide like this in Marketing plan will help you show that you have considered each of the key forces for your business.3. Team Slide No matter what type of presentation you build, showing the team for the job is a good idea. A team slide can make your colleagues feel famous and recognized, and also create familiarity with your audience. Almost all of the PowerPoint marketing templates that we featured in this prep will include a slide team. Use one of them in your PowerPoint marketing plan to put a name with a face for your audience. The team slide in business plan is a perfect example of showing members for your hard work. Map Slide Most marketing plans should include geographic consideration. This can mean showing trends or specific plans to help you reach your target audience. That's why you want to use a slide card to do just that. Bringing a specific geographic to life will help cement that there are specific, targeted plans. In the best PowerPoint marketing templates, such as the example below, you can see how to use the map slide. Use slide maps like this in Social Media Trends to help your audience connect plans to specific areas. The Slides4Mission infographic can help you explain the process. Instead of just listing the steps in the process, use an infographic to make it very visual. Your business plan should include some tactical plans. These are the concrete steps it takes to marketing plan. Those best shown with infographics that illustrate ideas easily. Infographics like this one included in the business plan are the perfect way to help your audience understand using a simple visual.5 Fast PowerPoint Marketing Presentation Tips Designing a Great PPT PPT The presentation takes not only strong slides, but refines them and put those ideas into the best visual slides that tell compelling stories. You want your points to stick with your audience and deliver them so that your key ideas that fit your marketing presentation goals. Here are some simple tips to help you do this: 1. Focus your PPT Marketing MessageTake on your marketing topic and simplify it. Hon it down to connect with your audience boldly. Your goal is to get into the head of your audience. Think about how your theme will resonate with them. What question, stats, or quick moment can grab their attention right away? A good example of rapid audience engagement is the question: What is the purpose of this email?, from the slideShare presentation of Email Marketing 101: Strategy, by SendGrid. This is followed by another question: Or rather, what do you want your recipients to do? These questions help to engage the audience in the presentation theme before they reveal the potential goals of e-mail campaigns. The questions are a great way to bring your audience to a clear point. Once you've got them hooked up to your topic, then look to keep that focus throughout the marketing presentation before you finish strong. Provide a clear, actionable TakeawaysGreat presentation to tell a story that puts the focus on problem solving. They refine with examples, but this one makes the most clear points that the audience can use. Provide takeaways in all sections of presentations, especially in your opinion. You want your audience to be managed to take notes, and remember your takeaway so they can put your ideas into action. There are some takeaways in SlideShare 5 Story stories Lessons from Superhero Stories. By HighSpark. The presentation does this literally, defining them as such, as shown below. Thus, the audience can easily recall the key points of the presentation's narrative, such as: connecting with the shared desires of identifying common villains showcasing problem-solving in history and more. 5. Format for Live vs distributed releaseBefore you jump in design slides, be sure to consider: how will you use the presentation deck you make? The format of the presentation will be different when presented live compared to the format that will be distributed. In the case of a live presentation, you want your slides to be concise, and support what you say. Your visuals only need to complement and highlight your key talking points. You can use spectacular visuals, but it's often best to keep the text short and your dots bold. Your presentation should take a different approach when you do it for digital or online distribution. For example, if you're designing a marketing presentation that will be emailed to your team, or if you're updating your deck to SlideShare. In these cases, each slide in the presentation should communicate its own point of view, just as the PDF would have done.
